There are many things and places that university age students would like to do and visit along Rt. 66 in Illinois. Among them, I've chosen three to introduce to you. They offer happiness and fun to you while you travel Rt. 66.

First is the Buckingham fountain in Chicago. The Buckingham fountain was built in 1927. This is one of the largest fountains in the world. These days, the weather is very hot. This place helps you get away from the heat. You must go to this place because it is the symbolic starting point of the road.

Second, I chose the Riviera Restaurant in Gardner. The Riviera Restaurant opened in 1927. This restaurant is very famous, and many famous people have been customers here. Some of them include Gene Kelly, Tom Mix, and Al Capone. The Riviera is decorated like a cave. I think that would be a new experience for you.

Third is the Chain of Rocks Bridge in Madison. The Chain of Rocks Bridge crosses the Mississippi River. It features a 22-degree bend in the middle of the bridge. Originally, the bridge was built for cars. But now, you can only cross the Mississippi River on the Chain of Rocks Bridge by walking. The bridge walk offers a new and fun experience above the Mississippi River. You can feel the river breezes, and watch the current.

There are many interesting things and places along Rt. 66 in Illinois. Illinois is the starting point of the Mother Road. I hope you will visit the places that I recommend for university age students. Thank you for reading and I hope you will have good experiences in Illinois.
